Winslow Tap fieldwork starting soon

Dear <<TaxPayerName>>,

Puget Sound Energy (PSE) plans to rebuild the existing 4.5 mile Winslow Tap transmission line (see map on reverse). This transmission line serves the Winslow substation that supplies power to 3,500 homes and businesses.

The transmission line was built in 1960 and some of its equipment is nearing end of useful life and needs to be replaced. In addition, the line is in a heavily-vegetated corridor, which makes outage response challenging.

This project will rebuild the aging infrastructure by replacing the poles and equipment and installing new conductor (wire). We'll also improve safety and access along the existing corridor so we can continue to serve customers reliably well into the future.

Upcoming survey work

PSE staff and contractors will be working in the corridor periodically between January and April 2020 to conduct land surveys, utility mapping, tree inventories, and wetland delineations for our project design. We may need to trim brush for access in order to conduct our work. Please refer to the enclosed fieldwork fact sheet for details.

Crews typically work on weekdays between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., and they will wear safety vests and carry identification at all times. Crews may occasionally require access through private property to reach certain sections of the line. Please reach out to the project team if you require advance notice - we'll reach out 24 hours in advance to let you know when we need to access your property.

Stay tuned for more details

We're in the early stages of this project, and we're committed to keeping property owners informed of our progress. For more information, visit pse.com/bainbridgewt. Please reach out to us if you have questions.
